About the visit

This exposure visit was arranged in a view to improve critical thinking and encouraging 'hands on' experimental science at under graduate level. On a large perspective, the visit was initiated imagining that it shall encourage more students to take up higher education in science. This acts as a catalyst in igniting young minds (faculty and students) to engage in networking, exposure visits to research institutes and industries and apply for research grants in order to prepare them for future challenges after the successful completion of their undergraduate courses. About 70 students and 8 faculty members participated in this programme.
