1. Introduction:

Isvar Chandra Vidyasagar was known as a great Sanskrit scholar, social reformer and a pioneer of Bengali renaissance. He was born on 26th September in 1820 at Birmingham village of Midnapore district. He was a brilliant student of Calcutta Sanskrit College from where he received the title "Vidyasagar" (Ocean of knowledge) and in 1850 he was appointed head Pandit (Sanskrit scholar) of Fort William College, Calcutta. A year later, he became principal of Sanskrit College, where he promoted the study of English and admitted students of lower castes. He was also known as a famous Bengali writer, author and regarded as one of the most popular Indian educator and the father of Bengali prose.

Vidyasagar was a profound Sanskrit scholar, academic educator, writer, translator and entrepreneur and above all, a philanthropist. His contributions to the Bengal Renaissance through his rational social and educational reforms, and literary writings have been the undying records of history that claim our respect and reverence. By virtue of his resolute will and indefatigable tenacity, he struggled heroically for widow remarriage, prohibition of child marriage and polygamy, women's education, educational reforms, etc. and became a towering figure among the stalwarts of the Bengal Renaissance. He opened 35 schools for women throughout Bengal and was successful in enrolling 1300 students. He brought a revolution in the education system of Bengal. In his book, "Barno-Porichoy", Vidyasagar refined the Bengal Language and made it accessible to the common strata of the society. He reconstructed the Bengal alphabet and simplified Bengali typography into an alphabet of twelve vowels and forty consonants. He also worked to improve the overall condition of the Indian society. His contribution to the society is commendable. Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar initiated the concept of window remarriage and raised concern for the abolition of child-marriage and polygamy. Mahatma Gandhi allotted the highest place to him, saying: "Beginning with Rammohan Roy one heroic figure after another has raised Bengal to a position higher than that of the other provinces. It can be said that Iswarchandra Vidyasagar was the greatest among them."

On the occasion of celebration of 204th birth anniversary of Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar, our college has organized a seminar on "Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar: A great social reformer", essay writing competition and a quiz competition on Vidyasagar, these events have been organized by the Dept. of Philosophy and held on 26th Sept. 2023 at S.
