About the programme

On 21st June 2025, the Department of Music, Mugberia Gangadhar Mahavidyalaya, joyfully celebrated World Music Day, a global occasion dedicated to the universal language of music. The day's programme reflected the department's dedication to nurturing musical talent, preserving tradition, and embracing creativity.

The celebration commenced with a brief inaugural address by the Head of the Department, highlighting the significance of World Music Day in fostering cultural unity and encouraging artistic expression among students. This was followed by soulful performances from students and faculty members, featuring Indian classical pieces, Bengali folk songs, and light modern compositions. The performances showcased the department's diversity of repertoire and the performers' dedication to their craft.

A special highlight of the day was the inauguration of the department's Wall Magazine, "Shruti", an annual creative platform for students to express their artistic and literary skills. The wall magazine featured original musical articles, research notes, poems, notations, and artwork related to the world of music. It was formally unveiled by the Principal, who commended the department for creating a vibrant space that inspires both academic and artistic growth.

The event concluded with an interactive session where students shared their thoughts on the role of music in their personal and cultural lives, reinforcing the spirit of World Music Day – that music belongs to everyone and has the power to unite people beyond boundaries.

The day's celebration not only honoured the global tradition of World Music Day but also marked a memorable milestone for the Music Department with the launch of "Shruti", reflecting the department's ongoing journey of creativity, scholarship, and cultural enrichment.
